The Honorable Tom Cole
Ranking Member
Subcommittee on Labor, HHS, and Education
Committee on Appropriations
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairwoman DeLauro and Ranking Member Cole:

As organizations and communities working to ensure that healthy opportunities are available to all individuals regardless of race, ethnicity, or socioeconomic status, we are writing to thank you for including $71.95 million in the House FY 2020 Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriations bill for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) Racial and Ethnic Approaches to Community Health (REACH) program. REACH is one of the only community health programs funded by the CDC that is specifically dedicated to fund urban, rural, and tribal communities working to lessen and eliminate racial and ethnic health disparities. We are also pleased that the valuable Good Health and Wellness in Indian Country program has been maintained.

As you know, racial and ethnic minority communities are disproportionately affected by chronic disease in America. Preventable diseases like diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, renal disease, and stroke in ethnic minority populations cost the healthcare system $23.9 billion annually. These costs are expected to double by 2050. Investing directly in community coalitions with a history of tackling these issues allows the time and resources necessary to address the many root causes of racial and ethnic disparities and reverse the upward trend of chronic disease.

The REACH program is singularly advancing community-level strategies that work to eliminate racial and ethnic health disparities in chronic disease and related risk factors. CDC currently funds 31 recipients to reduce health disparities among racial and ethnic minority populations with the highest burden of chronic disease (i.e., hypertension, heart disease, type 2 diabetes, and obesity) through culturally tailored interventions to address preventable risk behaviors (i.e., tobacco use, poor nutrition, and physical inactivity). The REACH program continues to show measurable change in the health and wellbeing of racial and ethnic minority communities with the greatest burden of disease. The impact across REACH communities from 2014-2018 includes:

- Over 2.7 million people have better access to healthy food and beverages
- Over 650,00 people have benefited from tobacco-free interventions
- Approximately 1.3 million people have increased opportunities to be physically active; and
- Over 750,000 people have better access to new community-clinical linkages

As REACH celebrates its 20th anniversary we thank you for prioritizing this increased investment in communities that are working to address disparities and improve health outcomes. With your support, we can work to ensure that all communities have equitable opportunities to improve health outcomes.

Sincerely,
